Dear Dr. Rogers,

Quail Hollow Club is currently accepting applications for the 2012 Spring/Summer Season Internship Program. We are looking for dedicated, hardworking, enthusiastic and dependable individuals who want to take on the challenging task of preparing a golf course for a championship tournament. This rare opportunity allows students to gain hands on experience working on a championship golf course. Interns will receive training on various aspects of golf course maintenance and championship preparation.

The Wells Fargo Championship will once again be hosted at Quail Hollow Club in the spring of 2012. Interns will be taught the practices necessary for preparing a golf course to reach tournament standards. They will also play a key role in organizing and guiding volunteers during this event. Responsibilities also include daily course maintenance, record keeping, and attending monthly educational training seminars. The seminars cover a wide range of topics including: Irrigation, Sub Air Systems, Chemical Application and Calibration, Budgeting, Equipment Maintenance and Operation. Interns will gain in-depth knowledge into transition from cool season to warm season turf grass.

Interns will be provided with uniforms, lunch and discounted accommodations. Competitive wages range from $9.50 – 10.50 per hour based on level of experience. All levels of knowledge and experience are encouraged to apply; however our organization demands the highest level of dedication, self-motivation and commitment. Students interested in applying to the internship program should send their resumes, including cover letters, to Missy Maxson at MaxsonMQuailHollow@carolina.rr.com.

We hope to have students from your university join our team at Quail Hollow Club in 2012. Thank you for your consideration and we look forward to working with you in the future.

Sincerely,
