Department of Statistics and Actuarial Science, University of Iowa Tenure-Track Assistant Professor of Statistics

Applications are invited for a tenure-track assistant professor position in Statistics at The University of Iowa starting August 2012. Applicants must show promise of excellence in scholarly research and teaching, as well as interest in research collaboration. Research interests compatible with those of current faculty members are desirable. These include modern computational statistics, statistical genetics, spatial statistics, Bayesian inference, time series, categorical data analysis, and bioinformatics. Opportunities abound for interdisciplinary research in medicine and public health, economics, environmental sciences, engineering, law and justice, and other areas.

The Department and the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences are strongly committed to gender and ethnic diversity; the strategic plans of the University and College reflect this commitment. Women and minorities are encouraged to apply. The University of Iowa is an equal opportunity/ affirmative action employer.

Applicants must complete a Ph.D. prior to August 15, 2012, and must be free to assume the duties of this position on that date.

Candidates must submit applications online at <http://jobs.uiowa.edu/>. Do not mail paper applications. To assure consideration, all application materials must be received by December 1, 2011. However, screening of applications will continue until the position is filled. Attachments to the application must include the letter of interest, curriculum vitae, name and contact information of references, statement on research, statement on teaching, Ph.D. thesis abstract, publications, manuscripts in progress and graduate transcripts. Refer to requisition number 60079.

Please arrange to have three letters of reference, including a letter from the academic advisor, sent to:
